1812 Sun Tzu said: In the practice of the art of war, it is best to take the enemy's country whole and intact. To shatter and destroy his country is inferior to this way.
So, too, it is better to capture an army intact than to destroy it, better to capture a regiment, a detachment or a company intact than to destroy them.

1812 An individual cannot make war on his own; however, individuals are at the very heart of war. "Wars are the sum of battles, battles the tally of individual human beings killing and dying." War is the realm of individual and group violence.
Violence is what war is.
